

Michelle Ullrich is a home school mother with a passion for language. She enjoys diagramming sentences for fun and proof reads for leisure. She studied German at Henry Ford Community College and at Eastern Michigan University and speaks German at home with her native-speaking husband and their four children.