

Judy Rector – Having been a public elementary school, a high school teacher, and an SAT and ACT preparation coach, she emphasizes the development of a variety of tools, study skills, and test prep activities to achieve "A" 's in school. She now enjoys working with homeschool students to support them similarly. She has experience in English, French, Spanish, social studies, drama and music. Making her classes encouraging and engaging, she loves to develop and emphasize critical thinking as she stands with parents in bringing up strong Christians and solid, contributing citizens. Personally, her interests range from playing piano and directing youth choirs, to horseback riding, sailing, tennis, volleyball, swimming, and supporting a number of charitable organizations.
